SISTER ACQUITTED, BUT STEWART GETS 10 YEARS IN PEN

Verdicts Are Directed by Judge Following Agreement Between Counsel for Defense and State.

TWO BROTHERS ENTER PLEAS OF GUILTY

Famous Case Resulting From Shooting of U. S. Marshal Comes to Unexpected End Tuesday.

Blairsville, Ga., October 25.—(Special.)—Following directed verdicts by the presiding judge, George and Decatur Crawley this morning were found guilty of murdering United States Marshal P. E. Dixon, and sentenced to life imprisonment, while Blain Stewart, their cousin, was given a term of ten years on a verdict of guilty of voluntary manslaughter in the same case. Rose Crawley, sister of the Crawley boys, was acquitted. The directed verdicts resulted from an agreement between Solicitor-General A. G. Collins and the defendants' attorneys, Hughes Spalding and John Sibley, of Atlanta, and New Morris, of Marietta. The decision was announced to the court immediately after the case was resumed this morning, and ex-Sheriff W. C. Towery, who was to have finished his testimony, never took the stand.

George and Decatur Crawley pleaded guilty of murder, under the agreement, and the judge directed a verdict of guilty with recommendation for mercy. Stewart then entered a plea of guilty of voluntary manslaughter, when the trial was adjourned to ten years by the judge. Rose Crawley pleaded not guilty and, under orders of the judge, was acquitted.

Immediately after adjournment of court, the prisoners were carried to the DeKalb county jail. There was no disorder in the courtroom this morning, and satisfaction was expressed over the case which resulted in a sensation in 1919 when the marshal was shot and killed. The case was tried in October, 1919, all four defendants together, and all were convicted of murder. George and Decatur Crawley were sentenced to hang, and Rose Crawley and Blaine Stewart were given life terms. The cases went to the supreme court on general grounds, and were affirmed. An extraordinary motion was made for new trial on the plea that a juror was related to Dixon, and a new trial was granted.

Harding Speeds On First Official Visit to South

Larger Cities En Route Turn Out at Stations—Speaks Here Thursday.

On Board President Harding's Special Train, October 25.—On his way to Alabama, to speak tomorrow at the Birmingham semi-centennial, President Harding today got his first real picture of the south since he became chief executive.

Most of the day, as his train traveled southward from Washington, the president watched from the window of his car the passing panorama of agricultural and industrial development and made many comments on the accomplishments and needs of the southern states. At several places, southern products, including fruits and specially cured tobacco, were presented to him as an earnest token of the section's hospitality.

Some of the larger cities turned out crowds to greet the presidential train, and wherever stops were made both the president and Mrs. Harding shook hands with as many as could get near them.

Fast Schedule.
The run was made on a fast schedule, however, and the train slipped through most of the towns along the way without attracting unusual attention.

At Charlottesville, Va., a group of students from the University of Virginia serenaded the president with college yells, and he presented to them three of his guests aboard the train, Secretary Weeks, of the war department; Secretary Fall, of the interior; and Senator Underwood, of Alabama, democratic leader of the senate. Mr. Underwood, a graduate of the university, made a brief speech from the rear platform, praising Mr. Harding "as the greatest man in America."

There were several thousand people waiting to cheer the president at Charlottesville, and he was greeted with a short talk, expressing appreciation of the welcome accorded him.

Another crowd assembled about the presidential car at Danville, Va., and the president and Mrs. Harding alighted to the station platform to shake hands all around. At Charlottesville, Va., they observed several minutes with a group of over 100 railroad men, when the train stopped in the yards.

During the day's ride Mr. Harding also cleared away some correspondence and talked with Secretary Weeks, Secretary Fall, and Representative Almond, of Alabama, about the problem of the Muscle Shoals. The war secretary is to make a tour of inspection to the plant after the president leaves Atlanta, Ga., Thursday night to return to Washington.

Arrives at 8:45 A. M.
The presidential train which left Washington at 5 a. m. is to reach Birmingham at 8:45 a. m. tomorrow. Mr. Harding is expected to spend the day there, and is expected to make several short speeches besides the address at the semi-centennial. He will leave late at night for Camp Benning, Ga., where he is to make a two-hour visit on Thursday morning, and then will proceed to Atlanta to deliver an address at the DeKalb county jail.

BUNCO SYNDICATE LEADERS INDICTED

Names Probably Will Be Made Public Today. Victims Appear Before Grand Jury on Tuesday.

A number of indictments were returned by the Fulton county grand jury Tuesday afternoon, after victims of the bunco syndicate, men from every part of the country had testified before the jury and had identified the men who they claim, had fled from them.

Although the bills were not made public as Judge John D. Humphries, of the criminal division, had gone home, it was generally understood that true bills had been found in the cases in which the victims testified.

Rehder, of West Lafayette, Ohio, identified P. J. Rainey, alias George Irwin, and C. W. Walters as the men who in January, 1920, separated him from $15,000.

J. B. Ryan, J. E. Adams, alias Thomas Mulvaney, and J. J. Sanford were identified as the promoters who took $10,000 from R. M. Tidball, of Lincoln, Neb., February 21, 1919. Mr. Tidball was accompanied to Atlanta by Attorney Allen, former United States district attorney for Nebraska.

George H. Wiley accused J. H. Grant, alias Lem Glesson, and H. B. Lewis, alias Black Face Jew, converting to their own use $10,000 which he had entrusted them to invest for him on April 17, 1920.

Two victims from Texas lost $20,000 apiece here in January of 1920. They were T. W. McDowell.

TAMPA BUSINESS SECTION FLOODED IN COASTAL STORM

Virtually All Communication Wires Down Between Lower West Coast and Jacksonville.

Jacksonville, Fla., October 25.—At midnight tonight the tropical hurricane which entered the state at Tampa this morning and spread northeastward across the state, causing a loss to property and crops estimated at approximately a million dollars was apparently attaining its maximum velocity in the vicinity of Jacksonville.

The gale was blowing at the rate of 60 miles an hour here midnight, according to Meteorologist Mitchell. A heavy downpour of rain has been in progress throughout the night. Beyond two small blazes in the residential section and minor automobile accidents, the storm has had no ill consequences here so far as known.

As the storm turned sharply across the state from the west to the east coast, trees were uprooted and small buildings demolished, while crops in the path were reported as being seriously damaged. At Seabreeze, a seashore resort of Daytona, about middle way between Jacksonville and Titusville, a distance of some 225 miles, several cotton trees were blown down. Division Superintendent Hurley, of the Seaboard Air Line railroad, with headquarters here, reported he had been in touch with the railroad offices at Tampa for a few minutes early tonight and that several houses at that place were reported as being down, while others were unroofed.

The railroad tracks, he said, for several miles this side of Tampa were inundated and the Seaboard trains were entering the city over the Atlantic Coast Line tracks. The trains of both roads, however, were feeling their way, he said, as telegraphic communication was impossible.

Tampa Flooded.
The business section of Tampa is practically flooded under a foot of water as a result of the gulf storm, according to advices reaching here over crippled transmission lines. No loss of life has been reported, but industry is at a standstill. The entire west coast of Florida is feeling the effects of the storm, and is virtually isolated in so far as communication is concerned.

Tampa is without lights, telegraph, telephone or street car service, according to these advices received here by way of Plant City, about thirty miles northeast of Tampa.

Heavy rains are reported falling over the entire state. Forty miles inland from Tampa, in the section around Lakeland and Plant City, one truck crops have suffered serious damage. The highways are virtually impassable because of fallen trees, but so far as known railroad service has not been seriously interrupted. Officials of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, with division headquarters at Lakeland, report interruptions of service south of Tampa with water three feet deep over the tracks between Punta Gorda and Boca Grande.

Residences Damaged.
The flooded area of Tampa was described as extending from the bay shore sea wall to the heart of the business section, a distance of about a mile. Fashionable residences along bay shore drive were reported badly damaged from the high water. A gale of 56 miles an hour was reported in that city.

At Plant City the rainfall for the last 48 hours registered 4.26 inches with a wind of 35 miles an hour. Rainfall of 3.5 inches was reported there by the city officials. Reports were unable to communicate with any intermediate stations between Plant City and Tampa. A number of cattle are reported drowned.

No information as to the plight of St. Petersburg, 30 miles across the bay from Tampa, has been obtainable, but it is believed the city is faring very much similar to Tampa. Both cities are protected by a sea wall with St. Petersburg enjoying a slightly higher elevation.

The heavy rains throughout the state have thrown many cities and towns in darkness because of the disruption of power plant facilities. Notable among these are St. Augustine and Orlando. At St. Augustine, the water is reported to be rising.

Hidden Treasure Hunt in Cemetery Ends in Failure

Strange Story Told Council Committee Results in Excavation Expedition.

BY HENSON TATUM.
You know how you have thrilled at the tales of bold old pirate Captain Kidd and his hidden treasures. You know how buried wealth is sometimes unearthed in the movies and your pulse quickens and you find yourself joining in the search.

Something of these sensations stirred an excavating party of Atlanta yesterday afternoon to dig in a certain spot for a large sum of money a world war hero, now sleeping in France, is reported to have buried.

The searchers had no drawing, no written instructions to follow. The location was sought with a memory chart in the mind of J. C. Whitten, switch tender for the Southern railroad, who, by a strange series of circumstances, was entrusted with the secret.

Search in Cemetery.
A returned soldier, ill, feeling the threat of life weakening, befriended by the railroad man, confided in him and traced with a stick in the dust of the railroad yards a crude map, which he said a dying buddy had pictured to him.

"Go to Oakland cemetery," said this soldier. "Enter the driveway from Fair street. Walk to the first cross drive. Go down the sidewalk until you are opposite two large trees standing close together. There you will find one of the stones marked with a knife. The money is not under the marked tile, but either the one above it or below it."

The little party followed this route—members of the cemetery committee of council, Mr. and Mrs. Whitten, newspaper men and cemetery employees with picks—along from their shoulders.

Ten, twenty, forty steps down to the right from the main drive. "Here it is!" exclaimed Mr. Whitten. And, stooping, he dug with a stick the flagstone with sharp markings on it. "And right here at the two trees, too," he pointed out. The hunt was getting exciting.

Sounding Red Tiled.
One of the cemetery employees unrolling his pick. "Well, we'll soon find what's here," he said. A circle formed around him. He picked away at the cement. The marked tile was right in the middle of the walk. How could it be so? he asked. It was up and laid it without leaving evidence of his work? He drove his pick through. The sand cushion under it was unmolested. He sent his pick into the dirt and brought up a red tiled tile. "Let's try

SENTINEL TO FLAY BROWN'S BUREAU

Current Issue of Watson Paper Understood to Be Planning Attack on Agricultural Department.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMAN.
Constitution Bureau, Raleigh, N. C.

Washington, October 25.—(By Constitution Lease Wire.)—The issue of The Columbia Sentinel, Senator Thomas E. Watson's paper, for this week, will contain interesting and illuminating information in regard to the Georgia agricultural department. The paper is due to reach Atlanta and other Georgia cities Thursday.

From reliable sources, it is learned that O. C. Edmondson, associate editor of The Columbia Sentinel, will launch an attack upon charges may involve more than one of the Georgia department of agriculture and certain of its branches and bureaus.

The charges to be brought by Mr. Edmondson against the Georgia department of agriculture and its branches will contain certain data it is alleged in connection with the retirement of the Georgia government from affiliation with the Georgia bureau of markets, on account of "too much politics" and it is understood, also that these master spirits of Georgia department of agriculture, the agricultural culture, it is learned, will be fully discussed in the current issue of the Sentinel.

Various items will be listed and sensational charges made by the associate editor, who will charge that the Georgia department of agriculture, under the direction of Commissioner J. B. Brown, has converted the farmers' department into a vast political machine, dominated by certain corporations whose products are used exclusively by farmers.

In addition to an attack upon the Georgia agricultural department there may be other interesting remarks in the current issue of the Sentinel, the widely read newspaper.

SCHOOL CHILDREN DENIED REDUCTION IN TROLLEY FARES

Delegation Headed by Mayor Key and Superintendent Sutton Calls on President Arkwright.

MRS. AILES OUTLINES REASONS FOR REQUEST

Lower Fares Would Mean Granting Reduction Below Actual Cost, Says President Arkwright.

Reduced street car fares for school children were formally refused a committee, which visited officials of the Georgia Railway and Power company Tuesday afternoon, by Preston Arkwright, president of the corporation, who outlined in detail his reasons for the refusal and heard the arguments of prominent Atlanta men and women for the project.

This movement, initiated by the Forrest Avenue Parent-Teachers' association, of which Mrs. M. E. Ailes is the president, has been agitated for several weeks and reached its climax Tuesday afternoon when Mayor Key, Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools; W. W. Gaines, president of the board of education; Mrs. Ailes, Mrs. W. G. Whitten, representing the Atlanta Woman's club, and Mrs. R. P. McCormack, president of the Parent-Teachers' council of Atlanta, and others visited Mr. Arkwright to make their formal request.

Lurges Lower Fare.
The meeting opened with the brief address of Mrs. Ailes, presenting the case of the move's proponents. She related the history of the present movement and asked for one-half fares for the school children, stating that this would allow Atlanta to line up with other leading cities of the country which had adopted the plan. She also declared that the adoption of the plan by the power company would mean great advantage in the acquisition of good will.

President Gaines said that the principle of reduced fares for school children was not a new thing, since there were existing low railroad fares for special classes. Either that or, he said, the Georgia railroad commission rulings, he said, the reduced fares had been obtained in other cities. He also cited the fact that policemen are allowed free rides. Mr. Gaines also endorsed the plan of allowing teachers' reduced rates.

Mayor Key spoke briefly in favor of the proposition and Superintendent Sutton stated that out of approximately 5,000 high school pupils in the city, he believed between 3,500 and 4,000 went to school on street cars.

Preliminary to his reasons for turning down the plea, Mr. Arkwright pointed out that the appeal for reduced fares for school children was not a new thing, since it had been made in 1919, in 1920 and several times between then and now. He said that since the company considered it several times, he was ready to give the answer without hesitation Tuesday afternoon.

Says Fares Are Low.
The Georgia Railway and Power charges in Atlanta," he said, "are already very low. They do not yield revenue sufficient to cover the cost of furnishing the service, including anything approaching a reasonable interest rate on the minimum value of the investment necessary to furnish the service. So that there is no room to consider a reduction in the rate of fare on the electric railways. Reducing the fare would mean simply a reduction in the profit earned by the company, but would mean a reduction to a fare which would be below the actual cost of providing the transportation."

"This company has always felt that the general public using the electric railways was entitled to be charged the lowest rate of fare practicable, and that this should be done without discrimination between the various classes of passengers. Lower fares should be shared by the entire public using the street cars. For this reason, the company has never had any special rates for any particular class."

The only proper justification for making a reduced rate of fare for the particular class would be that the cost of transporting such class was lower than the average cost per passenger.

"Certainly this is not true with reference to school children or to any children, regardless of whether they attended school or not. It costs the street railway company just as much to transport a child going to school as it does a child going to work. A child occupies just as much space in the car as does any other passenger, and requires just as much investment, expense and attention to furnish it transportation as are required to furnish transportation to an adult."

Plenty of Food And Fuel Ready If Strike Comes

Letters From Every Part of State Show Georgia Prepared for Emergency.

The state of Georgia is ready to stand solidly together and weather the railroad strike, if it comes, according to an interesting lot of letters which have been received in Atlanta by Frank Weldon, chairman of the emergency board's committee on intercity co-operation.

These letters were discussed at a meeting of the committee Tuesday morning, presided over by W. H. Smith, in the absence of W. O. Foote, the general chairman, and indications now point to the fact that Atlanta will be able to cope with the situation when it arises.

In addition to the report of the conditions in the state at large, reports were rendered by the men in charge of local committees—all of them optimistic and certain that the various features can be well attended to in the event the big walkout occurs.

Letters Sent Weldon.
Excerpts from some of the most interesting letters received by Mr. Weldon follow:

Mayor K. A. Willett, of Washington, D. C.: "We have plenty of food, but we are out of coal until the end of this year. We have corn, oats, peas, potatoes, syrup and live stock to sell."

Mayor J. R. Monroe, of Abbeville, S. C.: "We have plenty of food, but we are out of coal until the end of this year. We have corn, oats, peas, potatoes, syrup and live stock to sell."

Mayor B. A. Harper, of Homerville, Ga.: "We have lots of corn, sweet potatoes, Georgia syrup, pork and beef to sell. We have both food and fuel in abundance and we are prepared to transport by truck from Waycross and Valdosta."

Mayor W. W. Fincher, of Canton, Ga.: "We have plenty of food, but we are out of coal until the end of this year. We have corn, oats, peas, potatoes, syrup and live stock to sell."

Mayor C. A. Mason, of Mount Vernon, Ga.: "We are well supplied with food, with corn, meat, syrup and sweet potatoes to sell. We may need some flour and sugar later."

Feed Selves For Year.
S. C. Jones, secretary Burke county chamber of commerce, and a large planter: "We can feed our family for a year on our own produce. We have corn, peas, syrup, eggs, chickens, turkeys, and fresh eggs. We might run short on sugar, salt and coffee. We have plenty of coal and wood in abundance. Wayneboro is organized. Our county is organized. We have a writer secretary, and the school board is organized. We can live on our own produce. A strike from Savannah or Augusta. A strike from Savannah or Augusta. A strike from Savannah or Augusta. Living would be a hardship."

JURY ACTS TODAY ON $150,000 SUIT

John Keiley Takes the Stand Tuesday and Emphatically Denies Poisoned Whisky Purchase.

Whether John Keiley, Atlanta capitalist, is responsible for the loss of Mrs. Catharine Bristol's eyesight, or whether her blindness was the result of other causes, will be the question for the jury to determine Wednesday in the $150,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Bristol against John Keiley, on the grounds that he gave her "brandy" which was 54 per cent alcohol.

The case will go to the jury about noon Wednesday, after counsel for the plaintiff concludes the argument. The opening argument for the plaintiff was made Tuesday afternoon by James K. Jordan, Wednesday, Attorney Clarence Bell and Reuben Arnold will argue for the defendant, while Attorney E. C. Buchanan will conclude for the plaintiff. After Judge W. D. Ellis charges, the case will go to the jury.

Mr. Keiley took the stand in his own defense Tuesday and declared most emphatically that he had no knowledge of the contents of the bottle from which Mrs. Bristol drank, and which she alleges destroyed her eyesight. Mrs. Bristol also contends that the death of her friend, Miss Lucile Sharpe, was also caused by drinking some of the same whisky.

Tells Story of Life.
Under direct examination, conducted by Attorney Arnold, Mr. Keiley told the story of his past life, relating how he had met Mrs. Bristol and Miss Sharpe at a house on Central avenue in 1914, and how his friendship with Miss Sharpe culminated in Baltimore in November.

GERMAN CABINET WILL BE FORMED ANEW BY WIRTH

President Ebert Requests Resigned Chancellor to Name New Ministers in Political Chaos.

Berlin, October 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Joseph Wirth, who resigned from the office of German chancellor last Saturday, has been designated by President Ebert to form a new cabinet. He has consented to assume the task.

It was in an eleven-hour attempt to solve the political chaos brought about by the Wirth cabinet's retirement on Saturday that President Ebert tonight requested Dr. Wirth to form a so-called business men's, or non-parliamentary ministry. It is expected the new government will take office tomorrow.

The cabinet will not be a coalition one, as all efforts to reconstitute the three-party bloc or to induce the German people's party to enter a party failed when the democrats and representatives of the people's party withdrew from today's inter-party conference owing to a dispute over the Upper Silesian decision.

The majority socialists and the clerical party will constitute the nucleus of the support for the new ministry. The democrats and the independent socialists promise to stand by it, while the German people's party again agrees to observe benevolent neutrality.

Notwithstanding the precarious nature of the support for the new ministry, Dr. Wirth sailed forth tonight in quest of men to fill the government bench when the reichstag meets at noon tomorrow. The cabinet, it is expected, will be wholly an emergency makeshift which will undergo changes a few weeks hence. Its organization under pressure is due solely to the government's predicament with respect to the entente's ultimatum in connection with the appointment of commissioners for negotiations with the Poles.

To Seek Rate Cuts.
"The railroads have, in fact, determined to seek to reduce rates and as a means to that end to further reduce wages."

"But the carriers have expressly decided to proceed in accordance with the law requiring conferences with employees prior to taking such action and to put no such reduction in wages into effect until

The statement issued by Thomas De Witt Cuyler, president of the executive association, follows:

"The standing committee of the American Association of Railway Executives met today to consider the procedure to be taken before the railroad labor board at the hearings tomorrow."

"At the invitation of the board a committee of railroad executives met with the board and discussed the procedure to be followed at the hearing."

"The railroad executives are not aware of any present dispute between them and their employees. The strike vote and order is solely against the decision of the labor board reducing wages 12 per cent as of July 1."

"The railroad executives are not aware of any present dispute between them and their employees. The strike vote and order is solely against the decision of the labor board reducing wages 12 per cent as of July 1."

The statement issued by Thomas De Witt Cuyler, president of the executive association, follows:

"The standing committee of the American Association of Railway Executives met today to consider the procedure to be taken before the railroad labor board at the hearings tomorrow."

"At the invitation of the board a committee of railroad executives met with the board and discussed the procedure to be followed at the hearing."

The statement issued by Thomas De Witt Cuyler, president of the executive association, follows:

"The standing committee of the American Association of Railway Executives

It has been passed upon by the railroad labor board.

"Any proposal to strike, therefore, is purely a matter of the decision of the labor board or against what the board might do."

"The railroad was to be declared a strike, that they would deprive the public of the service of the railroad at reasonable rates. Present rates are in many cases high and rates must be taken to reduce them."

"That reduction can only be effected by reducing costs and of the costs by far the largest factor is the wages of labor."

"The issue is very clear. If present wages are to be continued rates cannot be reduced. If rates are to be reduced, present wages cannot be paid. The railroad is powerless to take any other position."

Adopts Resolution.

The announcement of the board that the wage question cannot be considered now came in the form of a resolution, adopted Tuesday.

Following this action, the board called into executive session leaders of ten of the highest railroad systems, representing the American Association of Railway Executives, and asked them to reconsider asking for any additional wage cuts at this time.

"The board now has before it important questions concerning rules and working conditions, the resolution declared. 'The questions are of a complicated nature and are of highest importance to the carriers and the men. These matters will be disposed of before any additional wage cut proposals will be heard. It is the opinion of the board that the railroad executives should wait until the rules are adopted before they file any application for additional wage reductions.'

May Settle Strike.

It was on the proposition of getting the railroads to agree to wait for a definite period before filing applications for the contemplated further pay cut, that the board called the executives into session.

The board is now in a strong strategic position. If the executives decline to defer their wage application even after the board has notified them that it cannot be considered immediately, it will be taken that the carriers desire the strike.

If the brotherhoods decline it will mean that they are prejudiced a year in advance of the time it could be possibly handed down. Strikes are not often called against something that may happen next year.

WILL ISSUE PROCLAMATION.

Washington, October 25.—President Harding will issue a proclamation, outlining to the country the government's attitude, authority and intentions, if the threatened railroad strike occurs.

And, according to Attorney-General Clegg, after another conference Tuesday with district attorneys from five leading cities, the authority outlined by Harding would be promptly and effectively applied.

On the eve of the Chicago "peace conference," however, government officials are confident. Neither the government nor the public, Daugherty said, has any patience with a strike at this time. Every one is ready for the crisis if it occurs, he added—and warned housewives against hoarding supplies, lest they create a food shortage which does not now exist.

HINES IS ASKED TO BE COUNSEL.

Cleveland, Ohio, October 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Walter D.

Hines, former director-general of the railroads, was in conference with the "big five" railroad transportation brotherhood chiefs here this afternoon. It was authoritatively learned late today.

It was believed that the conference was regarding the meeting of the railroad brotherhood executives with the railroad labor board at Chicago tomorrow and the possibility of retaining Mr. Hines to represent the labor leaders' interests there.

Mr. Hines later issued a statement announcing that he came here at the request of the brotherhood chiefs to ascertain whether he could act as counsel for them in the question arising in connection with the strike order. He told the chiefs he was not in a position to do this. Mr. Hines said he would return to New York tonight.

As a representative of the non-alumni friends of the University of Georgia, among the people of Atlanta, Rev. Thomas H. Johnston, dean of St. Philip's Cathedral, made a strong appeal for the war memorial fund. Dean Johnston told of Jewett Williams, a Georgia alumnus, who could have served in the war as a chaplain, but who preferred to fight as a line officer, and of the heroic death of this alumnus on the Pander front. At the conclusion of the dean's speech the alumni stood for a moment with hopes as a tribute to Georgia's dead in the world war.

Other luncheon meetings will be held at 1 o'clock in the afternoon of Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week, so that the quota of $100,000 may be raised as speedily as possible. Local alumni were encouraged Tuesday by receiving the news that New York Georgia men had subscribed more than $10,000, and those in Washington had raised $7,000.

Deatour Man Memorialized.

Decatur, Ga., October 25.—(Special.)—Mrs. Eugene H. Wilson, of Decatur, has subscribed $500 to the University of Georgia war memorial fund through the ladies' committee of DeKalb county as a memorial to her son, Marion Footman Wilson, who was a member of the 327th ambulance corps.

Marion Footman Wilson was a member of the class of 1919 at the University of Georgia. He attended the university in 1916 and 1917, volunteered for service May 9, 1917, and began training for the ambulance corps at the American Red Cross camp at Camp Gordon.

He was assigned to the 327th ambulance corps and was killed in an accident in Atlanta, December 10, 1917. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Wilson, of Decatur.

Gift of Faculty.

Athens, Ga., October 25.—(Special.)—A gift of faith and sacrifice which will not be surpassed by the gifts of any body of Georgians, the faculty of the University of Georgia, announced this morning to total $25,000, exclusive of a special gift of $10,000 from the faculty and trustees of the agricultural college which was made in the form of individual gifts of the agricultural college faculty and which brings the total to $35,000.

"The gift of the faculty to the university represents every member on the campus," said Dr. L. V. Hendren, chairman of the faculty committee. "We expect to add to it also through contributions from members of the extension staff of the agricultural college scattered throughout the state. The present total includes subscriptions from the resident members of the faculty 100 per cent strong. The faculty gave heavily in proportion to their incomes. Many of them undertook to pay several times the amount of their salaries. Several pledged themselves to pay more than $1,000, and this despite the fact that the salary scale at the university is one of the lowest in the country and many of the men are remaining in Athens at sacrifice because of their loyalty to old Georgia."

1915, in the death of the latter, and the serious illness of Mrs. Bristol, "Lucile Sharp, with whom I had been living in the Baltimore apartment for some time, brought the liquor from New York. It was bought by Allie Osman, a friend of Mrs. Sharp's, in a cabaret on Remington avenue," Mr. Kelley said.

"After Mrs. Bristol had become very ill and had been taken to the Johns Hopkins hospital, the liquor was examined and the alcoholic content was found to be 84.6 per cent wood alcohol. I was entirely ignorant of the contents of the bottle, as I did not buy or drink it."

Asked for a Drink.

Mr. Kelley stated that when Mrs. Bristol came to Baltimore from Philadelphia, in answer to a telegram from him asking her to come, as her friend was dead, she came to his apartment and, as soon as she arrived, she asked for a drink. The witness declared that he told her that Lucile had had some in her room, and that there might be some left. She went into the room and took a drink. He stated that it was from the same bottle that Lucile and Allie Osman, a Turk and friend of the trio, had purchased in New York several days before, when all four of them were dining at a cabaret on Remington street.

He stated that he did not give Mrs. Bristol a drink, but that the next morning she told him that Mrs. Osman had taken several drinks after he had gone to bed.

Mr. Kelley stated that Mrs. Bristol seemed normal the next day. He said he went to a restaurant in company with Mrs. Bristol, a Mrs. Strauss—mother of a Mrs. Poole, who is said to run half of the house now occupied by Mr. Kelley at 55 West Peachtree place—and Allie Osman.

"Mrs. Bristol and Mrs. Strauss ordered fish," Mr. Kelley said. "After taking a few mouthfuls they complained that it was rotten. And in a short time Mrs. Bristol complained of being ill."

At her dismissal the doctor said that her eyesight was somewhat, but she could distinguish objects with apparent ease. J. W. Barwick, who is now living with Mrs. Bristol at 139 Spring street, paid most of her hospital bills, and I gave her checks aggregating $13 while she was ill."

An altercation, which was the result of alleged insults, remarks made by Dr. Horace Grant to four women witnesses for Mrs. Bristol, caused Dr. Grant to swear a warrant for assault and battery in the municipal court against J. W. Barwick. The latter is out under $100 bond.

According to Barwick and the women, Dr. Grant asked the women if they did not reside in houses rented by Barwick. The women involved were Mrs. L. W. Whitehall street; Mrs. Carolyn Dodd, 25 West Peachtree street; Mrs. L. W. Amaker, 32 East Harris street; and Mrs. J. C. Casey, 217 South Boulevard. They have stated on the stand that they would not believe John Kelley on oath.

EXCESS PROFITS TAX DEFEATED

Upper House Rejects
Plan of Reed to Retain

Washington, October 25.—The senate voted tonight 39 to 27 against retaining the excess profits tax after January 1, at the present rates. The proposal was offered by Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, who immediately after the vote proposed retention of the profits tax at reduced rates. Four republicans—Borah, Kenyon, Lee, Follette and Norbeck—joined the solid democratic minority in supporting the first Reed amendment.

Also without a record vote, the senate adopted the amendment by Senator Trammell, democrat, Florida, providing that in case a taxpayer borrows money to purchase or carry federal securities, he may deduct in computing his net income, only the difference between the amount of the interest paid on the indebtedness and the amount received in interest from the securities.

After the stormy session of yesterday, today's was rather calm. Only one row developed over alleged delay in putting through the bill. That was on the democratic side between Senator Williams, of Mississippi, on one side, and Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, and Heflin, of Alabama, on the other. Senator Williams brought the discussion to a close with a declaration that he and the American people were tired of useless verbosity.

"This bill," he said, "was brought here with the surtaxes on great incomes reduced to 33 per cent, which deprived the government of $30,000,000 in revenue and left it in the pockets of the extremely rich, and it was not brought here with the excess profits taxes cut out and that represents the staggering sum of $450,000,000."

The session tonight was the first of the threatened night ones to expedite passage of the tax bill. It ended more than two hours before the time originally agreed upon. Debate on the second Reed amendment had waxed warm when Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, in charge of the measure, said he was not disposed to keep the senate together longer if he could obtain a unanimous consent agreement to adjourn at 4 p. m. tomorrow.

This agreement was the first arrived at between the democrats and republicans, and followed all-day conferences between majority and minority leaders, which resulted in a failure to come to any understanding as to a day for a final vote on the bill.

TAMPA BUSINESS SECTION IS FLOODED

gusts, pedestrians and property were endangered by broken live wires dangling across the streets. Three small places in the business section also resulted. Orlando was in total darkness and newspaper plants there suspended along with other business.

Coast Stations Out.
The wireless station at St. Augustine reported that the heavy distress calls throughout the day and that communication with west coast stations had failed.

Key West, the extreme southern island of the peninsula chain, apparently enjoys a unique distinction in so far as wire communication is concerned. It has been reported that there with no resultant damage. Shipping between Key West and Havana was suspended because of the heavy seas, but there have been no reports of vessels in distress off that point.

The roof of a school building at Lakeland was blown away, but no loss of life resulted. Several small buildings in the rural communities around Lakeland were uprooted, according to reports.

The storm is described as the worst since 1897, the west coast having heretofore been immune largely from the tropical hurricanes.

Officials of the Clyde line reported this morning that as a precaution the liner Arapahoe, New York to Jacksonville, had been held at Charleston, S. C., but that it was expected the vessel would steam for Jacksonville this morning. The Merchants and Miners' Trading Company, which arrived this morning from New York via Savannah, reported

WIRELESS STATIONS OUT OF COMMISSION

West Palm Beach, Fla., October 25.—Jupiter wireless station, 18 miles north of here, reports St. Petersburg wireless station as having gone out of commission at 1:30 p. m. At that time the tropical storm was moving west of Tampa, moving north-northwest. The maximum velocity of the wind was 55 miles per hour from the sea. The barometer at Tampa at noon read 29.04. The St. Augustine wireless station is also reported to be out of commission.

Later this afternoon the steamship Mexico wireless Jupiter that a small wooden vessel was in distress six miles north of that station. The vessel had no wireless, and it is believed she has either gone down or come ashore somewhere north of Jupiter.

The freight steamer Thames, plying between Jacksonville and Miami, sank shortly after noon today, about 14 miles north of Jacksonville. Captain R. J. Wahl and the crew of fifteen men came ashore in lifeboats at Gomez, near here. There is carried a cargo of miscellaneous freight for Miami.

SEVERE GALES ARE FORECAST

Washington, October 25.—The weather bureau tonight announced that the tropical storm which is in effect off the south coast of Florida was moving inland at last reports and was heading for the northeast coast of Florida, between Jacksonville and Titusville. The bureau was without late reports from the flooded area around Tampa, the latest advice having been received about noon today.

The bureau's announcement said: "Tropical storm has apparently moved inland, between Jacksonville and Cedar Keys and it is moving slowly northward. It has been attended by severe gales over the eastern Gulf of Mexico and off the east Florida coast. Hurricane warnings remain in display on the west Florida coast between Key West and Apalachicola and storm warnings on the Atlantic coast as far north as the Virginia Capes."

The regular forecast contained a prediction of "severe gales off northern Florida, Georgia and the South Carolina coast."

be simple but sufficient. A strike could not come at a better time, for as food is concerned."

Mayor E. Paulk, Ashburn, Turner county, "We have plenty of food and a surplus of corn, hay, syrup, sweet potatoes, and other crops. No shortage here of either food or fuel."

Mayor George T. Daniel, Clarksville, Habersham county: "We have a considerable surplus to sell of some syrups, best of apples, corn, pork and the finest apples. Our stock of flour, sugar and coffee is abundant. We will do all in our power to aid in any way possible to feed the big cities. The Habersham county chamber of commerce will cooperate if a strike comes."

Telfair Well Supplied.
Mayor C. A. Ryan, Telfair county, "Telfair county is well supplied with foodstuffs. We have corn, wheat, rice, potatoes, sugar, peas, etc. There is no shortage here of food or fuel."

Mayor W. E. Wood, Dalton: "Whitfield not only can feed her own people, but we can furnish food and meat to those who are short. We have a large wheat mill here. Our warehouses are well stocked. We may need coal, gasoline and kerosene later, but are not worried."

Mayor A. J. Melton, Crawfordville, Taliaferro county: "We have plenty of food and fuel to run us the rest of this year. We have enough motor trucks to bring in anything in the way of food we may need. Thanks."

Mayor S. J. Harwell, Hartwell: "Hartwell is in good shape for food, with a big surplus to sell of corn, meat, syrup, potatoes, upland rice and peanuts. We also have plenty of wood."

Mayor W. H. Wallace, Conway: "Rockdale's farmers made plenty of food crops this year. We have lots of corn and sweet potatoes to sell. And there is lots of cord wood. All the groceries have ample stocks on hand."

The mayor of Hawkinsville: "Pulaski has corn, oats, hay, potatoes and meat to sell. They show us a market for these commodities and for wood."

Mayor J. C. Reynolds, Clayton: "Rabun county and all this mountain country are well supplied with food and fuel. We raise our own foodstuffs except sugar, coffee, salt and flour. We have hay, corn, pork and beef to sell. Rabun county has more than a year's supply on hand. So far as we are concerned in the mountain counties, the strike is welcome to continue indefinitely."

Mayor J. S. Cowart, Arrington:

Calhoun county has quantities of corn, sweet potatoes, delicious sugar cane syrup, hogs and beef cattle to sell. If any city is short of foodstuffs, it can get supplies here."

G. V. Harris, manager of the Farmers' Post and Warehouse exchange at Wrightsville, Johnson county, writes: "There is quite a surplus of corn in this section for which there is as yet no adequate market. Kindly furnish us with names of buyers with whom we may communicate. We will also appreciate any information you can give us as to a market for velvet beans."

TRAIN AND YARDMEN AT MACON MEET

—Macon, Ga., October 25.—(Special.)—While men employed in the various shop crafts of the railroads operating out of Macon have voted not to strike, there is considerable activity on the part of those connected with the train and yard service, indicating that they are planning to stop work when the threatened strike becomes a reality.

W. M. Hamilton, general chairman of the Order of Railway Conductors, today issued a notice of special joint meeting for all men in train and yard service at Macon on Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

The meeting was called for, it is not disclosed in the notice to the railroad men, but it is understood that the men who attend will receive instructions.

International officers of the different shop crafts represented in Macon have been here during the last few days, discussing the situation with members of their respective organizations. J. J. Conlan, an international union vice president of the Machinists union, was here Monday night to discuss the situation with the men.

It was stated after the meeting that the men are planning to stop work when the threatened strike becomes a reality. The men are planning to stop work when the threatened strike becomes a reality.

"Stick your pick over there just a little bit deeper," urged Mr. Whitcomb. Those who followed kept digging. The bed of the river was shifted to another and another bit until every inch had been probed.

A. J. Hoshorn, a local resident, remarked, "If somebody, like this man, who had not visited Atlanta before, had told you about buried treasure and you had found the silverware, you would be home."

The quoniam and newspaper men agreed that it was remarkable. The search was continued for some time, but no treasure was found.

Clue Is Found In Identification In Torso Murder

New York, October 25.—Mrs. Elizabeth Richard, of Jersey City, today identified the legless body of a woman found Saturday in a pool in Long Island City as that of Bertha Baker, or Becker, who lived with her two years ago. A design of the German iron cross and the initials "B. B." had been tattooed on her right leg above the knee. Mrs. Richard told the police, and she thought this might have been the reason why the legs had been severed.

Mrs. Richard said the girl had come to America from Cologne, Germany. She appeared at her company with her husband and baby, and asked for lodging. Mrs. Richard said. The man was identified as John T. Morrison.

After leaving her house, Mrs. Richard said, the girl lived in Hoboken, N. J., and was arrested August 18, 1919.

She said she would bring her husband to New York tomorrow to view the body and corroborate her identification.

To check up on Mrs. Richard's statements, detectives were sent to Hoboken police headquarters for fingerprint records. The body was compared with the prints of the murder victim.

Former Macon Man Denies Affections Have Been Stolen

New York, October 25.—(Special.)—Mrs. Fredericka Page, of 461 Washington avenue, which apartment house is part owner, filed her answer to the supreme court today to the $50,000 alienation suit brought against her by Mrs. Olivia Bright, of 1238 St. Nicholas avenue.

Linwood L. Bright, husband of the plaintiff, whose affections it is alleged were stolen from him by Mrs. Page, accompanied L. Harding Rogers, attorney for Mrs. Page, to court today when the answer was filed and added his personal denial of the charges made by Mrs. Bright.

"I am an alumnus of Mercer university in Macon, Ga.," said Mr. Bright, "and a son of Green Leo Bright, a retired merchant of Macon. Two and a half years ago my wife and I came to New York to earn a living. For awhile I was head of the Neidich chain of stores in Brooklyn. My health broke down and after my recovery my wife found me a job of the sort that, in my weakened condition, I was able to fill—that of elevator operator."

There are six murder trials included on the criminal docket, four of which are scheduled to begin on Monday. The first is that of George Walker, aged 17, charged with stabbing George Avery, aged 18, to death with a knife, which resulted in a mistrial at the last term of court will be heard next week.

Owing to the prominence of these two families the case attracted much interest and drew large crowds. W. O. McDaniel and son, Edgar, of Caldwell, charged with murder of John Barrs, of Caldwell, during the past summer and whose first trial resulted in a mistrial, will be tried at this term of the court. Both McDaniel and his son have been out under bond since the mistrial.

of Dodson, Texas, and R. A. Williams, of Wellington, Texas. They appeared separately before the grand jury. They identified and accused A. D. Moore, J. W. Walker and J. Chapman of taking their money.

"LITTLE JEFF" MAY BE BROUGHT HERE.

Thomas Jefferson Sharum, alias "Little Jeff," declared to be one of the most successful confidence men in America, probably will be brought to the south from Glens Falls, N. Y., to explain his alleged connection with operations of the bunco gang in Florida, according to local postoffice inspectors.

Sharum was identified on October 14 as being the man who negotiated a $25,000 swindle in Florida in 1920. He has a criminal record dating from 1888, when he used the name of Jeff Shearns. Since then he has served sentences on various charges, including murder, forgery, robbery and assault. He has two daring jailbreaks to his credit.

Local postoffice inspectors stated Tuesday that Sharum has been identified as a bunco man wanted for swindling persons out of large sums of cash which they had been acquiring by means of a bunco scheme as a guarantee that their checks were good.

Sharum was arrested about October 10 in New York city, together with six other bunco men. The seven are held for fleeing two Pennsylvanians

GUARD IS ENJOINED FROM USING STABLES

The Governor's Horse Guard, its officers, and the Pittman Construction company, were temporarily enjoined Tuesday from using as stables a building now under construction near the intersection of North Boulevard and Piedmont avenue, by order of Judge John T. Pendleton, in Fulton superior court. The case was set for hearing November 2.

The injunction petition was brought by Attorney Walter A. Sims in behalf of the following residents of the neighborhood: Mrs. C. P. Hope, Mrs. W. F. Wofford, C. G. Gray and J. G. Johnson. These petitioners allege that the section in which the Horse Guards are erecting the stable to keep 200 horses is strictly residential, and that this location will become a part of the city of Atlanta after January 1, 1922.

The plaintiffs contend that the stables will draw flies; that the odors from the stables will permeate the neighborhood and make it impossible to live in the homes now owned by them. In addition to this, the petition alleges that 200 horses will make a great deal of noise, which will also be a nuisance in the community.

The officers of the guard are Dr. J. O. Seamans, J. S. Slicer, Jr.

J. H. PERRY HAS FLAG OF FAMOUS KINSMAN

John H. Perry, of Miami, Fla., was in Atlanta Tuesday, and while here displayed a portion of what he said was the flag flown by Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry at the battle of Lake Erie in the war of 1812. Mr. Perry says he is a direct descendant of the Rhode Island family, of which Commodore Perry was a member. He has been traveling with the Rhode Island flag, and is now on his way back to his home in Miami.

Atlanta Supplies Funds and Builder For Memphis Work

The Almadura, a six-story modern apartment house in a choice residential section of Memphis, Tenn., is now in process of construction with most of the financing for the enterprise done by an Atlanta firm, while an Atlanta contractor is doing the work. G. L. Miller & Co., located in the Hurt building, is the Atlanta firm that has supplied most of the money needed to construct the building, which when finished will be appraised at $220,000. Gude & Co., of Atlanta, are the contractors, with many of the subcontractors being Atlanta firms. It also is understood that a good deal of the material for the building will be supplied from Atlanta.

The Almadura building will contain forty-eight apartments. The structure will be of reinforced concrete, fireproof and soundproof. The owner of the building is John T. Marshall, prominent business man of Memphis.

PEAR TREE BLOOMS October Chill Fails to Dampen Carter's Fruit Tree.

If George A. Carter, of 45 Catherine street, were to write a popular ditty entitled "When the Pear Tree Blossoms in October," Sweet Geraldine, everybody would say he ought to be sent down to the hokey hatch at Milledgeville. Whoever heard of a pear tree blossoming in October, anyway?

But Mr. Carter has a pear tree that is doing this very thing, and if he knows any "sweet Geraldine" or "darling Irene" he would be well within his rights if he dashed off some little ballad with the foregoing title.

Mr. Carter brought his blossoming pear tree to the "freak editor" of The Constitution, who is able to hobble around on crutches again after his strenuous campaign of twin vegetables carried on during the summer.

"This tree is blossoming now out there in my yard, and what's more, this is the third time it has bloomed. It has borne fruit twice this season and looks as though it is going to put out another yield before frost comes," Mr. Carter said.

YOU'LL GET RID OF BLACKHEADS SURE

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this get two ounces of calomel powder from any drug store, sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mix of dirt and oil and secretions from the pores of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, making large pores, and do not get the blackheads out after they have come hard. The calomel powder dissolves the water simply dissolve the blackheads and they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Any one troubled with these disgusting blemishes should certainly try this simple method.—(adv.)

Your Health—Your Shoes

If Nature had her way, we should be healthy and happy all the time. We abuse nature, thwart her marvelous efforts, by eating too much, sleeping too little, and by many other indiscretions such as wearing "bad shoes" which have a direct bearing on health.

Some women can wear incorrect shoes and never suffer much, but most women would feel better and get less tired if their feet were properly cared for and properly shod. Everyone says so who has given thought to this subject.

Cantilever Shoes have done a great deal of good for a great many women. To some they have given a better disposition; to some new enjoyment in walking out-of-doors; to others an entirely new degree of happiness. For when the foot is unstrained, as it is in flexible—arch, comfortable,

Miss Battle Presented In Song Recital.

SCHOOLBOY FINDS STOLEN DYNAMITE

Twenty sticks of dynamite, believed to have been a portion of the 1,000 sticks stolen Monday from the Belwood avenue rock quarry, were found Tuesday morning in an unfinished sewer beneath the English avenue school by a small schoolboy. The explosive was neatly wrapped in brown paper on which were scribbled unintelligible scribbles, which has led detectives to form the theory that the theft was probably committed by a fanatic.

B. J. Post, of 122 Payne street, was passing the school just as the boy emerged with the package. Recognizing the danger of the powerful explosive, he communicated with police headquarters and when call officers arrived they cleared the grounds of children and thoroughly searched the sewers and premises, but no more was discovered. The dynamite stolen weighed approximately 312 pounds.

Reports that federal agents had undertaken an investigation of the discovery, which appeared Tuesday in an afternoon paper, were declared untrue by L. E. Haley, agent in charge of the local department of justice. He stated that his attention had been called to the find by a newspaperman and that he saw no reason for federal inquiry.

PRIZE HERFORD HERD WILL BE SLAUGHTERED

Wilson & Co., packers, have purchased the grand champion prize-winning herd of Herford cattle exhibited at the recent Southeastern fair by the Curly farm, of Richmond, Va.

There were 15 head of cattle in the herd, and they averaged 1,000 pounds each. The price paid was $12,100 per 100 pounds.

W. R. Echols, Atlanta manager of Wilson & Co., states that the cattle will be slaughtered at once at the Atlanta butcher abattoir, and that the meat will be on exhibition Saturday, October 29, at Wilson & Co.'s Atlanta branch house, 64 East Alabama street.

Mr. Echols invites the public to the exhibition of this meat, which, he says, is as good a quality as ever brought to the Atlanta market.

"We are going to show," said Mr. Echols, "just what can be done in handling this kind of meat for this section, and it will pay any one interested to come down next Saturday and see the exhibit."

OLD PLANTATION HYMNS ARE SUNG AT TABERNACLE

Old plantation hymns sung by negroes in old-fashioned southern style, featured the "Cyclone Mack" meeting at the Baptist Tabernacle Tuesday night when the famous evangelist delivered the second section of his noted sermon, "The Second Coming of Christ," to a large crowd of colored people in the congregation.

Before beginning his sermon, "Cyclone Mack" called on the negroes to sing some of the old songs. After they had rendered several numbers the big crowd applauded them.

"I'm preaching to more colored people than any other white minister in the country," he said. "In my big tent which I carry with me I have a section reserved for colored people and they are from 2,000 to 3,000 present every night. I want the colored people of Atlanta to come out to these meetings during the rest of the time I am here. A seat for them and we'll all be glad to have you here."

The minister's sermon Tuesday night on "The Second Coming" was even more impressive than the first section delivered Monday night. The evangelist depicted the signs of the times which he said indicated that the second coming of Christ was nearer at hand than people imagine. He pictured graphically the scenes of judgment.

THREE ARRESTS MADE AND LIQUOR IS FOUND

Armed with a search warrant, officers surrounded a house at 51 East Harris street early Tuesday night and arrested one man and two white men. A small quantity of whisky was found. A quart jar, which had contained liquor, was found smashed on the floor.

The raid was led by Lieutenant Ryan, of the detective department. He was accompanied by a deputy sheriff and Detectives Hornsby, Saterfield and Austin. Mrs. H. H. Evans, aged 23, was released under $100 bond for disorderly conduct. K. Henry, aged 23, was held under $200 bond on the same charge. W. G. Williamson, aged 24, was held in default of $200 bond for alleged violation of the prohibition law.

INDICTMENT WILL BE ASKED AGAINST WEST

The case against Claude A. West, former secretary under three governors, charged with embezzling state funds, was dismissed Tuesday morning by Judge T. O. Hatcher, in the municipal court. It was stated by officials in the municipal court that the case will be presented to the Fulton county grand jury next Friday, and for that reason it was dismissed in that court.

Three indictments against West on other charges have been returned by the grand jury. The bond in the three cases has been fixed at $10,000 by Judge John D. Humphries, of the criminal division of the superior court. It was signed by W. A. Copeland, of Kingfield, Ga., and Fred H. Newkirk, of Atlanta.

The Constitution's Weekly Detective Story The Indiscretion of Letty Shaw A PETER RUFF STORY BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM (Copyright, 1921 for The Constitution.)

Next Week, "Deilah From Streatham"

They had all crowded after him to the threshold—thronging around him as he stood face to face with John Dory. His finger never wavered—it was pointing steadily towards the closed door a few feet to the left. Suddenly Letty Shaw rushed past them with a loud shriek. "You shall not go in!" she cried. "What business is it of yours?"

She stood with her back to the door, her arms outstretched like a cross. Her cheeks were livid. Her eyes seemed starting from her head. Peter Ruff and John Dory laid their hands upon the girl's wrists. She clung to her place frantically. She was dragged from it, screaming. Peter Ruff, as was his right, uttered first. Almost immediately he turned round, and his face was very grave.

"Something has happened in here. I am afraid," he said. "Please come in quietly."

On the bed lay Fluffy Dean, fully dressed—motionless. One hand hung down toward the floor—from the lifeless fingers a little phial had slipped. The full of trunks addressed to—

MISS SMITH.
Passenger to Melbourne.
S. S. Caroline.

Peter Ruff moved over toward the bed and took up a piece of paper, upon which were scribbled a few lines in neat handwriting.

"I think," he said, "that I must read these aloud. You all have a right to hear them."

No one spoke. He continued: "Forgive me, Letty, but I cannot go to Australia. I would only bring shame to my name. When I remember that moment, my brain burns with a fever. I am going mad. Some day I should do this—better now. Give my love to the girls."

FLUFFY.

They sent for a doctor, and John Dory rang up Scotland Yard. Letty Shaw had fainted, and had been carried to her room. While they waited about in anxiety, the second statement, Peter Ruff once more spoke to them.

"The reconstruction is easy enough now," he remarked. "The picture of this sitting room and that little bedroom is only an artificial one—something almost as flimsy as a screen. You see," he continued, "tapping with his knuckles, 'you can almost put your hand through it. It would look a little lower down, you will see where an opening has been made. Fluffy Dean hears her voice in the room—hears him pleading with Miss Shaw on the night of the murder. She had been sent home early from the theater, and it is just would, and by the time I got to White Horse, I had only enough for lodging and a few meals. So I tramped in.

"Got to a road house one afternoon and found it empty. Too tired to take another step. I crawled in to rest. Hadn't been there long when up came a buggy, and a man got out. The buggy drove on. More afraid of being told I couldn't stay than anything else, I hid, but on peeping out, I nearly died of amazement when I saw that the man was Joe Leroy."

"I kept out of sight. I don't know why, except that you get into the habit of keeping mum in the place where I've been living lately. I saw Joe go upstairs and heard him do a lot of scraping and hammering. When I took a look around, I found he'd fitted the door with three locks, and had boarded up the window. "Next day, as I was walking back to Bull's Gulch for food, I met the stage. Who was the first person my eyes lighted on? You've guessed—Cully Conrad! Another good conduct release, I said to myself. 'But it's queer that he should be making for Dawson!'"

"Will you let me sit down?" she asked, and collapsed into the box. "I began to worry about Chris. It seemed to me that he was in some place. Joe Leroy should be here, and that Cully Conrad should be here—even if neither of them knew that Chris was in Dawson. I lay down on the floor in the road house and slept soundly. . . . That was the night of Wednesday, the 18th of March," she said, and paused.

YOUNG GIRL INDICTED ON FORGERY CHARGE

At the morning session of the Fulton county grand jury, J. L. Ward and Ed Grant, of Stockbridge, young white men, were indicted on charges of subornation of perjury in connection with testimony of witnesses in cases of car-breaking, which were tried in the superior court about a month ago.

Hazel Quattlebaum, 19 years old, whose police career includes an escape from the woman's ward of the city police station and an attempt to drink carbolic acid when Vic Young, special detective, tried to arrest her several days ago, was indicted on a charge of forgery. It is alleged in the indictment that she forged a fictitious name to a check which she passed on a downtown store.

The jury found a no bill in the case of J. H. Crankshaw, a city policeman, who was accused of shooting Frank White, a negro, who ran when approached by the policeman. The negro was killed instantly.

In and Around Decatur

BY COLONEL JEFFERSON SHACKLEFORD MILLS

Vital Statistics.—(Special.)—Vital statistics for the city of Decatur, from October 1 to this date, show:

Deaths.—Emory M. Mason, Mildred Louise Mason.

Births.—To Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Tugler, a girl, Mary Elizabeth; Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Snow, a girl, Elmer Elizabeth; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Evans, a boy, William L.; Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Callaway, a boy. No name given.

Building Permits.—Inquiry at the city has revealed that 182 building permits have been issued to date this year, the approximate cost of construction being $600,000. The separate items of cost have been reduced, it is stated, over those of recent years.

The taxable value of Decatur property this year is shown to be $5,500,000.

Marriages, Pistol Toting and Personal Remarks.

An inspection of the record book of marriage licenses issued from the ordinary's office from January 1, 1921, shows licenses have been issued to 224 whites and 132 negroes, a total of 356 to October 25.

Having gathered this information, I appealed to the ordinary for a record of licenses issued to pistol-toters since the approval of the law on August 12, 1910, a period of 11 licenses issued during that period. The ordinary pointed out that this showed a strong sentiment for disarmament, for, whereas, he had received only $18 in fees for registering bonds for pistol-toters, under conditions supposed to obtain when the law was passed, he would have received about $18,000.

Ordinary James R. George, by the way, is in many ways a most remarkable man.

He served as justice of the peace of Lithonia district from 1882 to 1890, and in the lower house of the general assembly two consecutive terms, beginning with the session of 1889. He was for nine years assistant chief agent of the Georgia railroad at Lithonia, and has been for more than eighteen consecutive years ordinary of DeKalb county. He is also president of the County Officers' Association of Georgia, and is trustee of an educational institution in Georgia.

He saw the beginning of railroad construction in Georgia, and heard Alexander H. Stephens, in a vivid and prophetic, declare that the day would come when iron mon-

HARDWICK ATTENDS MERCER CEREMONIES

Macon, Ga., October 25.—(Special.)

Two thousand people witnessed the laying of the cornerstone of the new dining hall at Mercer university this afternoon, Governor Hardwick making the principal address and Master Charles L. Bass and other Masonic grand lodge officers officiating.

The ceremony marked the first step in Mercer university $250,000 expansion program outlined some time ago by President Rufus W. Weaver, the dining hall being the first of a series of new buildings to be constructed.

In his address Governor Hardwick predicted that when the expansion program is carried out Mercer will be the greatest university in the south. He praised the vision of President Weaver in connection with the proposal of the Baptists to establish here a great southeastern university.

The new dining hall, known as men's commons, will be ready for occupancy by January 1. The $30,000 faculty building and president's home also under course of construction will be ready next month.

Mozart's Fine Comic Opera Proves Modern in Theme

It was hard to tell whether the big audience at the Atlanta Theater last night to hear Mozart's comic opera, "The Impresario," enjoyed most the lovely music or the comedy, and the fact that the problems of the theater were the problems of the audience.

That prima donnas in the days of 1790 depicted roles with one another, and sacrificed the composer and his music to their own vanity and the exploitation of their style, regardless of the dramatic circumstances, the Mozart comedy proved amusing enough, and made it still more so was the eighteenth century opera house director's invariable aria when he would urge upon the composer the cheapening of his most artistic effects, that the "public demands it." But the final shock came with the incident in the opera when the orchestra musicians were quarreling among themselves and refused to play until the director should meet their demands. And yet the twentieth century believes that "disorganized" musicians and their orchestra unions are a purely modern problem.

As for the production itself, there has rarely been presented here anything more intimately delightful, together from some of the Society of American Singers and presented by the president, the Atlanta Theater, in American music in America, William Wade Hinchshaw.

It was presented under the auspices of the Kiwanis club, for the benefit of the Home for the Blind.

EXCLUSION ASKED FOR BLANTON

Washington, October 25.—Expulsion from the house of Representative Thomas L. Blanton, democrat, was called for in a resolution introduced today by Representative Mondell, the republican leader.

The ground for the move to expel was publication in The Congressional Record as part of an affidavit relating to a row at the University of Tennessee, which affidavit was characterized by some house members as obscene and unfit for transmission through the mails.

Blanton gave notice that it would be called up tomorrow, but at the suggestion of Representative Garrett of Tennessee, democratic leader, the time for a vote on the resolution was fixed for Thursday.

CORDIALLY TO MARK FRENCH PARLEY VIEW

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMAN

Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, October 25.—(By Constitution Bureau Wire.)—The return today of the French ambassador, Jules Jusserand, direct from the seat of his government, added a new interest in the arms parley. The French embassy has been practically dark before and since the foreign dignitaries began to arrive, and the position of France in the parley is not only pivotal, but one of a somewhat delicate responsibility.

Standing the open door to Germany, with a half century of feudalism, the position of the allied victors takes a keen place in every conference program.

In speaking of the attitude of France, Ambassador Jusserand said: "We will come in the same spirit as we are invited by President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes. The dominant note is cordiality. We come with that spirit, and will attend with cordiality in mind. We want the conference to succeed, and anything that we can do we shall do."

"You know," replied the ambassador, "that during the war we did nothing toward enlarging our navy. Plans were made when our navy was far below any scale that would be set, even by a limitation conference."

"As to the army, that is different. Often it is said by your leading men that the United States has a vast frontier undefended, with the only defense being the Canadian side and of Canada on the other. If we had a frontier with Canada on the other side we would feel easy, too."

Careful work on the rest of a building can't make up for a poor job of roofing. To get a roof that will last, you must have good materials. ### MISSING PLANE PILOTS LOCATED; SAVED BY SHIP

Local Shriners Will Pay Honor To the President

Yaarab temple will be denied the greatest honor of entertaining President Harding at its big fall ceremony to be held Friday night because engagements of the Shrine's most distinguished noble will prevent his remaining in this section for that event.

When it became known that the president would be in this section so close to Yaarab's ceremonial date, a committee of distinguished Shriners appointed by illustrious Potentate Henry C. Heinz called on the president and asked him if it were possible for him to arrange his schedule for the trip so he could accept the invitation to be present as Yaarab's guest.

His reply was: "About the hour your caravan of novices start on their pilgrimage across the hot sands to Mecca I am due to meet Marshall Foch at a dinner here. I appreciate the invitation, and would enjoy being present at Yaarab's ceremonial, but this previous engagement makes it impossible."

However, the nobility of Yaarab temple will not be denied the opportunity of saluting to Noble Harding, for it was decided late Tuesday afternoon to have the nobility assemble on the lawn in front of the Shrine's headquarters and clubrooms at 190 Peachtree street, Thursday, all wearing the fez of the order, and as he passes in the parade, salute the great shik of America in the manner of the Orient.

Yaarab's Million Dollar band will head the parade, and the president's picture will adorn the front of the Shrine headquarters, and prominent Shriners will participate in the reception and entertainment of Noble Harding, who is said to have taken the greatest interest in the Mystic Shrine since he made the journey across the hot sands of Mecca, where he received the sacred and sublime secret in due and ancient manner.

Illustrious Potentate Heinz urges every member of Yaarab temple and all sojourning nobles to be present on the lawn in front of headquarters Thursday afternoon, and to be sure and wear the fez.
